[TIMER] [SPLIT A] In describing our background, we often ask someone which racial or ethnic groups best describes them. Imagine if we used instead a 10 point system where points are allocated to whichever racial or ethnic groups we think accurately describes a person. For example, if you think of someone as just African American, you would allocate all 10 points to African American. Or if you think of someone as mixed race, but more African American than white, you might allocate 6 or 7 points to black and 3 or 4 points to white. Now think of your own background in racial and ethnic terms. In terms of being Asian American, Pacific Islander, white, black, Latino, and Native American, how would you describe your race and ethnicity using this 10-point system?

- ○ Number of points Asian American
- ○ Number of points Pacific Islander
- ○ Number of points White
- ○ Number of points Black or African American
- ○ Number of points Latino or Hispanic
- ○ Number of points Native American or American Indian
